

Electronic Book Organization

This electronic book is organized alphabetically by author. The contents file is called contents.pdf and is located in the top-level directory. The index file is called index.pdf and is located in the same top-level directory. Individual papers are located in the directory 01. The index .pdx file is located in directory 02.

Using the Electronic Book

To use all the features of this publication, you must have installed version 9 or above of Adobe Acrobat® or Adobe Reader®. This software is NOT included in this electronic book. To obtain it, you must visit Adobe's website (www.adobe.com). Some versions of Adobe Reader are available without charge. IF YOU ARE NOT USING ADOBE ACROBAT 9 OR LATER OR ADOBE READER 9 OR LATER, YOU MAY BE UNABLE TO USE THE FOLLOWING NAVIGATION FEATURES OF THIS ELECTRONIC BOOK.

Bookmarks

The files on this electronic book all contain bookmarks with links to the electronic book's home page (IJCAI13) (Home), the IJCAI proceedings contents page (Contents), the IJCAI proceedings index pages (Index) and the IJCAI organization website at www.ijcai.org (IJCAI Website).

Links

Destination links to individual papers are provided from the contents file (contents.pdf) and the index file (index.pdf) of the proceedings included on this electronic book. To locate the contents page of the proceedings, select bookmark called "Contents." You may also select the hand tool (or another suitable navigation tool—check the Acrobat help files if you are unsure which tool to select) in Acrobat and position the cursor over the word "contents" or the word "index" on the main navigation page (IJCAI13) and slowly move it until the pointer changes to a hand with a pointing finger. Then click the link to move to the new document. On some systems, the cursor shape may be different. Consult the Acrobat help files if you are having trouble following a destination link.

The contents pages of the IJCAI-13 proceedings on this electronic book contain links to individual papers. For aesthetic purposes and to aid readability of the document, the links are hidden, but are easily located. To locate a particular paper, first navigate to the contents page of the proceedings, (the file name is contents.pdf) place your cursor (be sure you have selected the proper tool in Acrobat) over the title of the paper on the contents page and slowly move it until the pointer changes to a hand with a pointing finger. Then click the link to move to the new document. To return to the contents page, choose "Document-->Goto Previous Document" in the Acrobat toolbar (on some systems and versions of Acrobat, the location and name of this command may differ) or select the Contents bookmark. Consult the Acrobat help files if you are having trouble returning to the previous document. In some versions of Acrobat, a keyboard shortcut is available to return you to the previous document. To follow a destination link in the index, position your cursor over the page number associated with the document you want to read (be sure you have selected the proper tool in Acrobat). Position the pointer over the page number until the pointer changes to the hand with a pointing finger. Then click the link to move to the new document. To return to the index, choose “go to previous document” in the Acrobat toolbar.

Full Text Search

An index of this entire electronic book has been provided to enable full-text searches of all documents. To search the papers on this electronic book using the Adobe Acrobat Search command, you must first select the index to search. To add the index on this electronic book, follow the Acrobat Help instructions on adding indexes to search, and select the file called IJCAI13.pdx provided on this electronic book in the directory numbered 02.